

CONCEPTS

Design

The exhibition space is located underneath the ground. A big glass facade protects the visitor from the water of the Maas.

Transport

A raft in a lock transports the visitors from the riverside to the exposition space.

Interactive

The floor in the pavilion is underneath the water. When visitors start the walk the tiles of the floor appear one by one.

Visitorflow

Another option is a floor that looks and moves like a giant wave. The visitors are forced to move with the wave to prevent having wet feet.

